FREDERICK, MD -- Largest Online Police Auction Site PropertyRoom.com's Cyber Monday Survey Reveals An Interesting Regional Breakdown of Items Recovered from Police Nationwide

Founded by a former New York police officer and detective, PropertyRoom.com auctions goods seized during raids, forfeited by criminals, or unclaimed by the original owners. Working with over 3,000 police departments, municipalities, airports, museums and aquariums, PropertyRoom.com streamlines the auction process by cataloging the unclaimed property, refurbishing it if needed, performing the authentication process, auctioning it and delivering it to the successful bidder.

In a recent survey released for Cyber Monday 2012, PropertyRoom.com reveals the most common stolen items that are able to be recovered and seized by police. With the usual bicycles, power tools, gold jewelry and laptops leading the charge nationally, it's the regional breakdown that proves interesting. In the Northeast, it's fashion items and watches, while the South boasts automotive parts and scooters, the Midwest tends to contribute the most gun cases, ATVs and dirt bikes while the West has digital cameras and ski equipment.

PropertyRoom.com even has a breakdown of the most recovered items for some states, and Indiana recovers the most crossbows, Nevada the most swords, and Tennessee has the proud distinction of recovering the most hunting equipment. Besides these top items, the Cyber Monday 2012 Survey also releases the strangest items seized by police which include a prosthetic leg in Florida, a water slide in Nevada, toilet paper in Arizona and a tombstone in California.

All of these items are turned over to PropertyRoom.com, and they are able to offer their customers unbelievable deals from more than 4,000 daily and ever-changing items. And with PropertyRoom.com standing behind each item as a trusted site -- counterfeit items are destroyed -- customers can shop both smartly and safely.
