COMPANY INFO

PropertyRoom.com offers great deals with a fun story. We work with over 4,100 law enforcement agencies and municipalities nationwide to help auction their seized, stolen, abandoned and surplus goods. Yup, you heard that right. Seized, stolen, abandoned and surplus goods. You never know what kind of deal you can find on PropertyRoom.com with hundreds of auctions, most starting at $1 with no reserve, closing daily. We've got everything from jewelry, watches, vehicles, coins, electronics, fashion, fine art and more.

SO HOW DID WE GET OUR START?

By statute, law enforcement agencies must auction seized, found, and unclaimed personal property at public auction. This was usually done in the parking lot of the local police station. But back in 1999 a former police detective said "Why can't we do this online?" And PropertyRoom.com was born.

We created a solution for law enforcement agencies nationwide. We pick-up all those seized, stolen, abandoned and surplus goods out of their Property Room, opened up their public auctions nationwide and send back proceeds to the local communities. That's also where we go our name – the Property & Evidence Room is where all these goods are stored at your local law enforcement agencies. We just shortened it to just PropertyRoom.com.

FIRE DEPARTMENTS, AIRPORTS, PARKS, OH MY

After a while municipal agencies wanted to take advantage of our services so we opened the PropertyRoom.com online auction services and platforms up to fire departments, airports, fleets and parks departments. Lost and found items that are never claimed may just end up for auction right here. Going once, going twice...they could be yours.

EVEN MORE DEALS ADDED

Several years later, liquidators and wholesale merchants reached out to us interested in utilizing our online auction services and platform as a way to liquidate their goods. As one of our goals is to provide great deals to our shoppers we started allowing a few, hand-selected and Trusted ShopKeepers to sell on our site. Now we have even more quality goods from store close-outs or overstock products up for auction.

Today we serve over 4,1000 law enforcement and municipal agencies nationwide and work with over 20 Trusted ShopKeepers and our values remain the same from the first day we opened... We offer a simple, straightforward promise:

TO OUR CLIENTS:

We haul-away headaches, and send back proceeds

TO OUR SHOPPERS :

Trusted, authentic deals with the fun of bidding your best price

BACKGROUNDER

How did PropertyRoom.com get its start?

Did you know that all goods seized, found or abandoned and managed by law enforcement agencies are required to be sold through public auction after a required hold period? If the law enforcement agency is unable to reunite the good with its rightful owner, they must auction it off at a public auction.

Before PropertyRoom.com, law enforcement agencies conducted police auctions the same way for 75+ years. Typically they would gather all the goods in their parking lot on a holiday weekend. The same 20 bidders would show up and the result was minimal proceeds and often the auction would end up costing the city money.

In 1999, a former police detective turned entrepreneur asked: "Why can't we do this online? Let's pick-up the goods, bring them to a warehouse. Test, catalog, photograph and auction on a website. I bet we could bring over 1,000 people to our auctions. Established in 1999, PropertyRoom.com now has over 2.1 million registered shoppers and is growing.

Where do the goods come from?

Products featured for auction on PropertyRoom.com come from all over the country. By law, public agencies, like your local law enforcement agency, are required to auction off surplus and unclaimed goods.

Some of the goods are a result in crime – burglaries, auto theft, shoplifting, credit card fraud, tax evasion, etc. So when we say you could get a Steal of a Deal, we mean it!

PropertyRoom.com also auctions unclaimed goods found on transit systems, aquariums, universities and airports.

What is the fee arrangement with Law Enforcement Agencies?

With all clients, PropertyRoom.com has the same, progressive, revenue share model. The higher the winning bid, the more proceeds that go back to the local community.
